

NEBHjobs.com

Nebraska Behavioral Health Jobs Tips for Job Seekers

What kind of behavioral health professions can I pursue?

There are a wide variety of behavioral health professions out there, including psychiatry, nursing, therapy, social work and more. To view an expanded list of licensed professions, as well as the educational track you will need to get there, visit <https://unmc.edu/bhecn/programs/ambassador-program/career-pathways.html>

How do I create an account and post my resume?

We've created a guide outlining the steps to create an account at NebraskaBehavioralHealthJobs.com and to start uploading resumes for free.

What should I consider before I upload my resume?

Your resume and cover letter are one of the first impressions you will make to a potential employer. To make sure your resume and cover letter are effective and impactful as possible, check out these helpful articles:

Resume do's and don'ts every job seeker should know

185 Powerful Verbs That Will Make Your Resume Awesome

5 resume mistakes experienced job seekers need to stop making

The difference between a cover letter and the email you send with your application

31 Attention-Grabbing Cover Letter Examples

What Do Employers look for in a resume?

What tips do employers have for behavioral health candidates?

“Really take notice of the preferred qualifications. This is typically what the hiring manager, your potential supervisor, has put out in terms of what they are looking for exactly. Highlight your related experience on your resume.” ~Holly Socha, DHHS

“I think it is important to do research and read into the company because one of the most important things in looking for a job is making sure it is the right fit - that your values align with the values of the company. When you can do that, it comes through in the application.” ~Luke Reiff, CenterPointe

I landed an interview, now what?

Whether it's face-to-face, on the phone or via video, the interview is an important part of the hiring process. This list of articles provides advice for a variety of interview situations and questions::

11 brilliant conversation starters to use in a job interview

Best Questions to Ask at a Job Interview

How to answer the interview question “What motivates you.”

How to Answer “Tell Me About a Time You Made a Mistake” in 4 Easy Steps

3 Better Ways to Answer “Why Should We Hire You?”

How to Prepare for a Video Interview Part 1

How to Prepare for a Video Interview Part 2

How to Ace a Phone Interview